Market commentary

As 2024 came to a close, the US equity market faced a challenging December but still posted impressive gains for the year. Solid consumer spending and a strong jobs market helped fuel a series of all-time highs, with major indices reaching significant milestones. In its final meeting of 2024, the US Federal Reserve (Fed) lowered rates, but Fed Chair Jerome Powell indicated that only two more 25 basis point cuts are expected in 2025, while warning that inflation might remain stubbornly high.

The S&P 500 ended the month down 2.40%.

In the UK, equities delivered returns of 9.5% in 2024, slightly outperforming their European peers as the economy rebounded from the 2023 lows in a cyclical recovery initially driven by post-election optimism. However, the momentum was tempered by the autumn budget, which introduced steeper-than-expected tax increases, including a rise in national insurance taxes on employment that significantly dampened business confidence.

Surveys in the final months of the year pointed to reduced hiring and heightened price pressures, leaving the Bank of England navigating the challenging task of balancing support for a slowing economy with controlling inflation. This uncertainty was reflected in the equity market, where the blue-chip FTSE 100 reversed November's gains to close December 1.3% lower, ending the fourth quarter down 0.8% but up 5.7% for the year. Meanwhile, inflationary pressures resurfaced, with November's headline inflation rising to 2.6% (the highest in eight months) up from October's 2.3%, while core inflation climbed to 3.5% YoY from 3.3% in October, further complicating the Bank's policy outlook.

FTSE 100 TR finished the month 1.3% lower.

Equities in the Eurozone struggled towards the year-end, hit by concerns over high valuations and potential tariffs under US President Trump. The England Central Bank cut rates to 3.0% in December as economic momentum faltered, with the manufacturing sector hurt by high energy costs, regulations, and competition from China. Political instability in France and Germany added to the pressure. Due to limited AI exposure, European stocks underperformed, ending the year with just an 8.1% return amid stronger global market performance.

Emerging market stocks outperformed their developed market peers in December, with the MSCI EM up 2.31% for the month. However, for the full year, Emerging market stocks lagged developed markets, with an 8% annual gain. Chinese equities played a key role in EM's December outperformance, driven by ongoing government measures to stimulate sluggish economic growth.

Emerging Markets (MSCI EM 50 NR) ended the month up 2.31%.

The Caleo Global Flexible fund ended the month down -2.56%.

Risk warnings and important notes

Collective investments are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future.

Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. All performance is calculated on a total return basis, after deduction of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms. Forward pricing is used.

The Fund invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. This could result in a higher fee structure for the Fund.

Fluctuations in the value of the underlying funds, the income from them and changes in interest rates mean that the value of the Fund and any income arising from it may fall, as well as rise, and is not guaranteed.

Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.

The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and may change in the future.

Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies, even in developed markets, investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt.

Notwithstanding ongoing monitoring of the underlying funds within the Fund, there can be no assurance that the performance of the funds will achieve their stated objectives.

The Fund will contain shares or units in underlying funds that invest internationally. The value of an investor's investment and the income arising from it will therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations.

Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments other than on the fund's dealing days.

No borrowing will be undertaken by the Fund except for the purpose of meeting short term liquidity requirements. Borrowings will not exceed 10% of the net asset value of the Fund. For such purpose, the securities of the Fund may be pledged. No scrip borrowing will be allowed. The Cell is not permitted to enter into any form of borrowing or loan arrangement with other cells of the Company nor other collective investment schemes of the Manager.

While derivative instruments may be used for hedging purposes, the risk remains that the relevant instrument may not necessarily fully correlate to the investments in the Fund and accordingly not fully reflect changes in the value of the investment, giving rise to potential net losses.

Forward contracts are neither traded on exchanges nor standardised. Principals dealing in these markets are also not required to make markets in the currencies they trade, with the result that these markets may experience periods of illiquidity. Banks and dealers will normally act as principals and usually each transaction is negotiated on an individual basis.

The Manager has the right to close the Fund to new investors, in order to manage it more efficiently, in accordance with its mandate.

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.

Investors are reminded that any forecasts and/or commentary included in this MDD are not guaranteed to occur, and merely reflect the interpretation of the public information and propriety research available to the Investment Manager at a particular point in time.
